COUNTY AGENT

The question comes up every day as to whether or not it will pay to feed corn to hogs at the present prices of corn and hogs. Farmers tell me every day that it will not pay. Feeding corn alone certainly will not pay, because feeding demonstrations have shown that on an average it will take 11 bushels of corn alone to produce 100 pounds of gain. But when a protein supplement is fed the tale changes. We know that when thrifty sows are put on full feed it will take approximately 7 bushels of corn and 80 pounds of tankage or fish meal to produce 100 pounds of gain. Where plenty of grazing is available, a protein supplement can be cut down. And better still at the present price of cottonseed meal at least half of the protein can be obtained from that source. A good feed to use is all the corn that the hogs will eat, and a mixture of 50% tankage and 50% cottonseed meal. If grazing is available so much the better. It is reasonable to expect about 40 cents or possibly a little better per bushel for corn with hogs at present prices of about 3 1/2 cents per pound. That is better than hauling corn to town and getting from 30 to 40 cents per bushel.

It is a strange thing to me why Georgia farmers will not feed surplus corn to hogs when our neighbors across the line in South Carolina are profiting by this system of feeding. I know that pork can be produced much cheaper with peanuts, and I think we have the right system, but when the peanut crop is gone and we have a surplus of corn why not market it through our pigs instead of selling the pigs to farmers in other sections to feed out?

E. P. JOSEY, County Agent.

GEORGIA LANDS BEING REFORESTED

Athens, Ga., Jan. 9.—Five hundred and fifty-one thousand tree seedlings were shipped from the forest nursery at Athens during the calendar year 1931, reports B. F. Grant, associate professor of forestry at the Georgia State College of Agriculture. This is a greater number than has ever been shipped in any previous year, and indicates that the need for planting trees is more strongly realized now than at any other time.

These seedlings went to 67 counties in Georgia. Slash pine, as usual, led all other species followed by longleaf and loblolly pine and black locust in the order named. This was a sufficient number of trees to plant 800 acres of Georgia's idle land.

The majority of the seedlings shipped were grown during the first two months of 1931. Shipment has now started on the present supply, and will continue until March 15th, the latest date possible to plant in Georgia. There are still plenty of slash and longleaf pine trees available at the nursery, but orders are coming in rapidly since the first of the year, and indications point to another "sell out" during the next 60 days.

Anyone desiring to plant trees this year should write the Division of Forestry, Georgia State College of Agriculture, who will be glad to give advice as to species to plant and methods to use. These seedlings are distributed at cost to citizens of the state, and are shipped in the order received, that is, first come first served.

STRONG SPEAKERS DISCUSS FARMING

PROGRAM IN ATHENS THIS MONTH TO PRESENT NUMBER OF FORCEFUL SPEAKERS.

Athens, Ga., Jan. 11.—In announcing the completion of arrangements for the twenty-fifth annual Farmers' Week and Marketing Conference to be held at the Georgia State College of Agriculture during the week of January 25 to 30, President Andrew M. Soule stated that the program has been carefully arranged to furnish to all those interested in the agricultural development of the state something of specific interest while as a whole the theme of the meetings will emphasize the importance of the use of land in Georgia.

Diversification of crops, conservation of forests and the rehabilitation of wild or waste lands have benefited this state millions of dollars. Then the use of land in the farm lands of Georgia is a most timely indeed, coming at a time when the agricultural interests are suffering more than at any time of recent years. The millions of acres of unused lands are liabilities instead of assets. In fact, the farmer is not receiving enough income from this class of farm lands to pay taxes levied against it.

Monday, January 25, the important topics of discussion at the general session will be "The Use of Land," by Dr. Soule; "The Controlling Standard of Georgia Products," by Hon. Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture of Georgia; "Long Time Investment Opportunities in Georgia Land," by Mr. Roland Ransom, president of Georgia Bankers' Association.

During the general assembly hour on Tuesday, Hon. W. T. Anderson, editor of the Record Telegraph, will give "The Editor's Point of View on Land Conservation," and O. Quimby Melton, commander of the Georgia Department, American Legion, will point out "The Use of Land for Experimental Purposes."

The Financial Position of the Southern States will be the subject of the address by Henry D. Polard, president and general manager of the Central of Georgia Railway, during the assembly hour on Wednesday.

Miss Martha Berry, president of Berry School, will point out "The Educational Opportunities for the Youth of Georgia," and Mrs. S. V. Sanford, president of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, will discuss "Promoting the Use of Georgia Products" during general assembly on Thursday.

Friday's assembly speakers will be Dr. T. F. Abercrombie, of state department of health, on "The Relationship of Health to Care of Land," and Hon. Kyle T. Alfriend, secretary of the Georgia Educational Association, on "The Need of Co-operation in Education."

Mallory Appointed To New Commission

Athens, Jan. 11.—James M. Mallory, Savannah, has been appointed by Governor Richard B. Russell, Jr., to a vacancy on the commission of the Department of Forestry and Geological Development to serve for a period of six years. This is a new commission that takes the place of the forestry and geological boards under the reorganization plan. Five of the old members of the board, forestry hold offices in the new commission.

Mr. Mallory is an expert in mineral development of the state and has been industrial agent of the Central of Georgia Railway for several years. He has been a leader in developing the deposits of the south and middle Georgia. He has also been interested in forestry development and has taken special interest in promoting the use of southern woods for paper manufacture, also in advancing the naval stores industry in Georgia.

The membership of the commission in charge of the department of forestry and geological development is now as follows: Governor Richard B. Russell, Jr., chairman; J. Leonard Rountree, Summitt; Alex K. Sessions, Coddell; C. B. Harman, Atlanta; Bonelli Stone, Oxford; Mrs. M. E. Judd, Dalton; James M. Mallory, Savannah; S. W. McCallie, Atlanta, secretary; C. A. Whittle, Atlanta, treasurer.

COUNTY SCHOOLS

Tuesday evening, January 5th, the trustees of the Portals High School gave their entire faculty a banquet which was most unique in its nature and inspiring in the spirit in which it was prompted. The wives of the trustees prepared and served a sumptuous dinner which the faculty enjoyed.

Such an occasion has never before occurred in our county system so far as I have any knowledge, and the teachers surely did show appreciation.

E. Daughtry, chairman of the board of trustees, made a pretty talk filled with inspiration and humor at the beginning of the ceremonies, of which Supt. Ed L. Swain was master. The faculty was assured of the same promptness of the payment of their salaries in the future as has been done in the past, which the teachers comprehended and accepted good naturedly.

Supt. Swain was in a happy mood and gave some sound, sensible advice with illustrative argument. All teachers were given a chance to express gratitude and to assure the trustees of a continued service of effectiveness as teachers.

The new Portals school building, from a point of view of service to its pupils, is one of the few extra large plants having from fair to adequate equipment; twenty large class rooms pretty well equipped, a laboratory and library and superintendent's office. There are close to eight hundred children in the district, a majority of whom are transported in modern county trucks. The most rural child now has the same opportunity of the child in the town because he is given a chance of a high school education. No child in our system is entirely out of reach of a high school education. Just a few short years ago, but a select and elect FEW were privileged a high school education. Now such is possible for all white children of the county who are capacitated to take it.

Supt. Swain is a master in organization and supervision. With him is a faculty of three young men of ability and thirteen well trained and skilled young women teachers who constitute a faculty equal to the demands such school must make on its faculty. They have the job in hand and are really doing a work that will insure permanent recognition to class A during the present term.

Trustees and patrons of the Portals school district certainly are standing squarely behind the faculty. With such assurance of support and with the natural ability of leadership of the teachers in charge, a real school of above average worth is assured. Only Statesboro high school surpasses Portals in numbers in attendance.

E. Daughtry has been chairman of the board of trustees for so long a time that the job by virtue of continued service is his. Alex Woods is another old timer whose unselfish service is appreciated. He loves the school next to his home. Other trustees whose interest is no less than these men just mentioned are Cecil B. Gay, L. O. Brinson, Saw W. Brack, who is secretary and treasurer, and naturally is the most interesting man of the bunch so far as the teachers are concerned because he is paymaster. T. O. Wynn and R. D. Mallard are right there in the right light.

Right now, or at least during the last month before Christmas holidays, Portals school was making an average of twenty teachers. The full capacity of the school is eight hundred pupils, which will soon be attained at the rate of growth the school has made during the past few years.

To get a full and comprehensive view of the school it would be necessary for you to visit it for a full day and watch the teachers at work in the several class rooms. You will have your eyes filled and will leave with a better opinion of the school than you can possibly have unless you do make such an inspection. The building is electrically lighted throughout.

Modern flush system toilets have been constructed, giving the school the absolute assurance of sanitation and healthful conditions. Water supply is from the deep artesian well. Portals school is all right.

With about 75% of the 1931 taxes unpaid and about 30% of 1930 taxes unpaid, the prospects for cash from local sources is not so bright as we would like to have it. But our prospects from the state seem brighter. With an income of $18,000 from the equalization funds which gave Bulloch county an increase in appropriations over the past two years, we can see no reason why we shall not run a full school year, if we do have to wait awhile for the money.

By having in use several county-owned trucks, the county board of education has been able to save more than $10,000 a year on the cost of transportation, and in addition to this saving, the county has the trucks paid for, which will insure further saving as the years go by. With a reduction in cost of control, while at the same time an increase in appropriations, the outlook is not so bad. We have a pretty good system of schools after all has been said and done. Present support of the schools is much less burdensome than the other forms of taxation which brings to your children NOTHING. Our schools are all right.

Prof. H. McRae Saunders is bringing back Register's full attendance during the present year. Last year there was a decided falling off in the attendance of the Register school, which is now being overcome through the skillful leadership of Supt. Saunders, whose record of five years at the head of the Screven high school assured confidence at the very beginning of the school year. We sincerely believe that the present year at Register is one of the most effective years in the school's history, possibly the very best.

Miss Claitt is directing the department of home economics in a most skillful and satisfactory method. She has won the respect and esteem of the girls of her department and is making a good record with this work.

Rail Line Taxes Prove Great Help

Dawson, Ga., Jan. 11.—A railroad is the largest Terrell county taxpayer. Another railroad is the next largest taxpayer. Checks from the two roads, which have just been received by Collector J. S. Jones, of Terrell county, total $7,917.04. Railroads have long been big taxpayers, it was pointed out here. In some counties railroads are said to pay perhaps one-half of the total property tax.

Public officials here, as elsewhere, have come to realize that if some relief is not afforded the railroads from unfair competition they will cease to be sources from which taxes may be obtained to operate schools, pay the running expenses of the county governments and contribute liberally to the general support of the state government.

Attention is called to the fact here that taxes paid by the railroads of the country, taking them as a whole, average nearly $1,000 yearly for every mile of track. They do not go, as may be supposed, for the maintenance of the railroad lines, but for the maintenance of the governments that maintain highway freight lines for competition with the railroads.

Trustees and patrons of the Portals school district certainly are standing squarely behind the faculty. With such assurance of support and with the natural ability of leadership of the teachers in charge, a real school of above average worth is assured. Only Statesboro high school surpasses Portals in numbers in attendance.

"NOBODY'S BUSINESS"

THE LOW DOWN ON THE HIGHER-UPS

Uncle Joe knows exactly what caused the present panic and how long it is going to last—and nearly everything else. He thinks stock gambling precipitated the trouble and automobiles kept our troubles precipitating right on towards bankruptcy, but we will let him tell it:

"Yes, Gee. Stocks got inflated just like them air corner lots in Florida and when the bubble busted, it done the same thing for the world that the real estate boom does for Florida. That thing killed the confidence everybody had in everything."

"It's a funny thing to me that the government did not try to save our banks before they broke instead of trying to do something with them after they locked up shop. Uncle Sam could have used them 500 million dollars that he permitted the farm banks to waste—in scotch whisky banks and navy one of them would ever have sunk."

"I actually believe that 90 per cent of the folks in my community who have automobiles able to run one if they could get 'em for nothing. A man in my township swapped his milch cow last week for the down payment on a radio and another man stopped his newspaper so he could meet the second instalment on a churning machine and he hasn't owned a cow in 8 months."

"Installment agents must be good salesmen. Mr. Capus Smith bought a 45-dollar stove about 2 months ago and he has been begging ratings for nearly 3 years. Two more of my friends have bought 95-dollar sewing machines and neither of them can raise enough cash in 2 weeks to pay for 5 years of calico—that is, after they met the machine payments."

"Barns and tenement houses is rotting down. Our old mules are so poor they have to be helped up every morning, our land is being sold for taxes and the state is the only guy able to bid on it, but the funny thing about it all is—nobody has got too poor yet to buy tobacco or smoke cigarettes or spit snuff."

"In this state—you know it takes 2000 pounds of lint cotton to buy a license plate for a Ford, and every time its owner buys 10 gallons of gas he donates 10 pounds of cotton as taxes to the highway commission and 20 pounds to his exhaust pipe. But 1 bushel of corn will buy nearly 2 gallons of gas. Yep, sp'w, we are already ruined and are getting ruined every day. Give me another light."

PANICS, PAST AND PRESENT I confess that I don't know very much about panics. I never work harder during a panic than I do when there ain't any panic, but that's because I have always worked hard, am still at it. I lived thru the depressions of 1907 and 1914 and 1920, and so far, I have survived nearly 3 years of the present backward bull movement. (N. B. Panics were not called depressions till Hoover named this one—these were just "hard times" till then.)

The old man who shined my shoes (for 5 cents) a few weeks ago told me that all panics were exactly alike, except some of them lasted longer and hit harder than others. I began to feel his right. I am awfully tired of the mess we are in at this writing and most any kind of change would be for the better.

I try mighty hard to believe that this depression is just like all the others we have had, but when I think of our fine roads and beautiful school houses that ain't paid for and the billions of dollars we owe for bonds and the other billions of dollars our states and counties and cities owe in the way of "floating debts," I begin to worry about things. (We have lost both our money and our credit.)

We did not have any big soldiers' loans bill to pay during those other panics, did we? We have so many thousands of grafters in office to prey upon the taxpayers back there. We did not have legislatures back yonder that would appropriate twice as much for unnecessary purposes as legislatures do today, nor did every public officer try his darndest to create new jobs for his son Bill, Bill's wife, and the rest of the relatives.

We do not recalled having passed thru a period before where 65 per cent of our banks busted and the "past" panics did not have to contend with a citizenship that was too proud to wear cotton stockings and too lazy to walk, nor was more money invested in luxuries—such as automobiles and radios—than all of the real estate in the United States would fetch on

LEARNED DOCTOR WRITES ON HEALTH

CHILDHOOD TUBERCULOSIS AND ITS RELATION TO TUBERCULOSIS PREVENTION.

(From an article by Lea. W. Blitch, Ph. D. of Georgia Tuberculosis Sanatorium.)

Last week the explanation of lymph nodes or glands which are the body defenses. Now we continue with the function of the nodes in relation to tuberculosis in childhood.

Clustered around the trachea (windpipe) and its branches are similar lymph nodes which are guardians of the lungs. They filter out infectious material breathed or taken into the body by the mouth and prevent its gaining entrance into the lungs. If tubercle bacilli (germs of tuberculosis) manage in some way to get past these glands and into the lungs, they may take root there in the lung tissue and cause lung tuberculosis. This does not often occur in children, however. Nevertheless when large quantities of the tubercle bacilli are inhaled, they may pass to the body the same way as the shadow of the body of straining them one may become too great for the glands and they become damaged. Ordinarily the damaged portions of the lymph nodes become calcified, minerals deposit there and form a hard, gritty mass which is opaque to the X-ray and causes the shadow of the X-ray film which notifies the physician that there has been a struggle against tuberculosis in the child's lungs.

Strictly-speaking the damaged condition in the beginning is not lung tuberculosis at all, the infection is confined to a small area of the lung and the lymph nodes, and the breathing surface of the lungs (lung tissue) is not invaded seriously by the germs of tuberculosis. Nevertheless this condition is very significant, for if it is discovered and treated in time, the child may be protected from lung tuberculosis in the teen age or the early twenties, the ages at which tuberculosis does its most deadly work.

A big rattlesnake was killed by the policeman while out duty postum hunting the other night. Him and his other dogs tried a possum in a log and when he split it open, it was a rattlesnake with 14 buttons and several button-holes. The policeman nearly killed his best dog hitting at the snake with his lantern when it exploded and when it was subdued, nobody seemed to know whether him or the dogs killed it. Its hide will be stuffed for the museum in the school house.

A woman from New York was in our midst last week working for a flower bulb house. She takes orders and collects 1% from her customers as a guarantee of good faith for all orders over 2% and under $8. She talked my wife into buying 3 orders for 2% each, so she guaranteed her good faith with the money I loan her to buy her a nice Sunday dress with and if they ever get any bubs from that woman, I will guarantee everybody else's faith in the future. That's the way that man done me what sold me razors for 2% and got 1% down for mailing charges and he hasn't been seen since, and neither has his razors.

Congress has extended the moratorium again to the furin furin, but it has not seen fit to extend anything to my homefolks. Seville Ellison, our magnate, says if Congress stays met long enough that it will bust us all from Maine to California. I read in the papers where a senator said that Mr. Hoover is the only man that can lead us out of the panic. He ought to know the way out, as he is the man that led us into it. If the Dimmercraht don't win next election, I am going to close up, sell out, get my church letter, turn my hogs out of the pasture, give my house to the state, and move to China—where you don't hafta have no government and a fellow can fight all the time.

Mr. Editor: I will rite or foam in a startling peace of news Friday if what I hear is so about a certain boy and girl when he comes back to see her as usual. Her pa barried my shotgun this morning.

PREDICTS LIFE TO LEAVE THE EARTH

BUT CHEER UP—FOR IT WILL HAPPEN A TRILLION YEARS FROM NOW.

Paris, Jan. 7.—Life will disappear from the earth and a greater glacier will form over its surface one trillion years from now, Colonel George Cros, noted French astronomer, announced today.

His announcement was based on his assertion that the sun is speedily shrinking, and moving away from the earth at the rate of three feet each century.

It was linked with a prediction that New York, as well as California, was in for some cold summers, indeed.

A trillion years represents 500 times the age of the earth and is 3,000,000 times longer than the duration of humanity to the present.

Colonel Cros estimates the earth to be no less than 1,400,000,000 years old and not more than 3,400,000,000 years and has established an estimate of 2,000,000,000 years.

In one trillion years the sun will be one-sixth of its present distance farther away from the earth. That will result in a drop in the mean temperature of earth of 15 degrees centigrade. The reduction in weight and radiation powers of the sun will reduce the temperature on earth another 15 degrees, a total of 30 degrees centigrade or 54 degrees Fahrenheit.

Such summers will become winters and present winters will become glacial. New York would have an average temperature of 20 degrees above zero, Fahrenheit, and average winter temperature of 23 degrees below zero.

LOOKING FORWARD

Nineteen-thirty-two may be a crucial year in the history of the United States.

For more than two years we have endured one of the most severe and prolonged general depressions of all time—in company with the other great nations of the world.

The greatest danger of a depression is that we may lose our heads—that a sort of mob hysteria may take the place of reason.

Prosperity will return as the result of stimulated employment, stimulated buying, stimulated trade, commerce and building.

We cannot create prosperity by heaping additional tax burdens on businesses and individuals already struggling under a tremendous tax bill.

Our basic industries have shown a commendable spirit in seeking to solve their problems, which, in reality, are the workers' problems and the consumers' problems.

Electricity, insurance, oil, gas, railroads, farm organizations—all have shown progressive tendencies. They realize the duty that is upon them to prevent so far as possible, the up-and-down swing of the business chart in the future—the booms that are followed by drops, the inflation that precedes deflation.

"The issue raised by Floyd county is of vital importance to the state," Chairman Rainey said. "If Floyd county is right in its contention, the result will be that the state will have on its hands several thousand idle convicts with no place to house them, a dollar with which to feed, clothe and guard them, and in all probability this would necessitate an extra session of the legislature."

"There is no demand by the counties for convict labor, and there are no prisoners in jail through out the state more than 100 felony prisoners the commission has been unable to place."

BUY AUTOMOBILE LICENSE TAGS NOW

AVOID PENALTIES LATER WHICH WILL APPLY AFTER FEBRUARY FIRST.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 11.—Under the amendment to the Georgia motor vehicle laws passed by the general assembly of Georgia at its 1931 session, automobile license tags must be purchased on or before February 1, 1932.

Thereafter, all applications will have to come through the sheriffs of the various counties, and will have to be accompanied by the price of the tag, a dollar fee to the sheriff, and 20 per cent of the price of the tag as a penalty, and no applications, except for new cars, can be honored unless presented through the sheriffs of the respective counties and accompanied by the price of the tags, fees and penalties.

Excepting Sundays, this time gives only 15 days in which to sell approximately 320,000 license tags, which would average over 21,000 per day.

Approximately 18,000 tags were sold during the first week. This would indicate that the people are waiting to buy during the latter part of the year.

Some confusion has arisen on account of our failure to accept personal checks. The law provides "When an application for license tag and certificate is made, . . . it shall be accompanied by cash, cashier's check, postal money order or express money order for the license fee required by law."

It appears that heretofore, personal checks have been accepted in some instances, but the State Revenue Commission is of the opinion that they have no discretion to waive that provision. No personal checks are accepted. It is not a question as to whether a tax payer's check is good, as the records disclose that less money has been lost on account of personal checks than on cashier's checks. It is merely a mandate of the law that we cannot waive or set aside.

We are receiving copies of resolutions passed by grand juries, and requests from many sources, for an extension of time, but there is absolutely no provision for any extension and after February first all license tags will be delinquent and all persons who have not ordered prior thereto will have to pay the fees and penalties.

RAINEY PROTESTS CONVICT DUMPING

Atlanta, Jan. 11.—If Floyd county and other Georgia counties are allowed to dump their misdemeanor prisoners on the state of Georgia, an extra session of the legislature will have to be called for their support, Chairman E. L. Rainey, of the state prison commission, declared here.

The county commissioners of Floyd county recently abolished their county jail, claiming and demanding that the state take charge of all the prisoners. The prison commission did take charge of the felony convicts, but refused to become responsible for the misdemeanor prisoners, who are still held in Floyd county awaiting disposition.

"The issue raised by Floyd county is of vital importance to the state," Chairman Rainey said. "If Floyd county is right in its contention, the result will be that the state will have on its hands several thousand idle convicts with no place to house them, a dollar with which to feed, clothe and guard them, and in all probability this would necessitate an extra session of the legislature."

Hardy Tung Oil Trees Introduced

The introduction of the tung oil tree in Florida, South Georgia, and in the Gulf region of other southern states, is progressing rapidly.

The tung oil tree provides what is known as "wood oil" in trade and is used in paints, varnishes, linoleum, etc. The supply has been coming from China.

The trees are commonly known from South China and are not winter hardy, hence plantings have been confined to the lower south. But trees obtained from North China have been introduced that can be planted further north.

The Georgia Experiment Station near Griffin has been experimenting with tung oil trees for several years. The trees it has obtained from North China have grown rapidly and are coming into bearing.

The indications are that the experiment station has found varieties of the tung oil tree that will do well over a great part of the state.

Earl Hoeft, a young manufacturer, of Berlin, was kidnapped by a woman named Corliss, of St. Louis, set fire to the place. He was caught and confessed.

CARD FROM MR. DONALDSON

To the Voters of Bullloch County:

Some time ago I made my formal announcement as a candidate for receiver of Bullloch county and had expected to see a great many of the voters before this time; however, I was accidentally hurt and have since that time been physically unable to make anything like a thorough canvass of the county.

I trust my friends will realize my situation and lend me their help and support in the present campaign.

I have held this office for one term only, and during that time have put forth every effort to render competent, courteous and efficient service, and feel that my services have been satisfactory to my present constituency.

It is my intention to see as many of the voters as my physical condition will permit, but should I fail to solicit your support in person, I want to say that anything done or said in my behalf will be greatly appreciated, and I earnestly hope and trust that the people of Bullloch county will again see fit to lend me their help in the approaching primary.

Thanking my friends for their loyal support in the past and again asking for the same, I am,

Respectfully,

E. HUDSON DONALDSON. (14Jan26)

CANDIDATE FOR CORONER

To the Voters of Bullloch County: At the solicitation of friends I have decided to offer myself as a candidate for coroner, subject to the Democratic nomination. I shall appreciate the support of the voters and if elected will endeavor to discharge the duties of the office efficiently.

J. P. BOYD.

CANDIDATE FOR CORONER

To the Voters of Bullloch County: I am offering myself as a candidate for coroner, subject to the Democratic nomination. Lee Enters Race For Tax Receiver

Announcement of the candidacy of Dan R. Lee for tax receiver will be seen in today's issue. Mr. Lee is one of the best known citizens of the county, having been in business at Brooklet for the past ten years or more. Twice he offered for the office of tax receiver, and four years ago was elected by only a small plurality. He is fully competent to discharge the duties of the office and is popular throughout the entire county.

Three Candidates In Coroner's Race

In today's issue will be found three announcements for coroner—George Scriver, Willis R. Barnes and J. P. Boyd. Mr. Barnes, a young man well known in and about Statesboro. Some years ago he offered for mayor but withdrew after a brief campaign. Mr. Boyd is well known throughout the county, having once been elected coroner, which office he held with distinction and credit. Mr. Scriver, the present coroner, seeks re-election upon his record for the past eight years or longer. He has held the office satisfactorily and his friends believe he is entitled to re-election upon his record of efficiency.

City Court Runs Past Four Days

The city court of Statesboro, which convened Monday, will adjourn late into Tuesday night, was that against A. L. Waller and Grady Farrell, charged with a misdemeanor in connection with the killing of Elbert Webb, city postman. Webb was killed as he stood by the side of another car at 3 o'clock on the morning of January 3rd near Lower Lotts Creek church. The car, which belonged to Waller, was driven by Farrell. Webb was the rear seat. The party failed to stop after the accident and contended that they were not aware of any serious contact till the next day when announcement was made of Webb's death. The men were acquitted by a jury on charges of violation of the motor vehicle law.

In an effort to economize time, Judge Cowart has been convening court early and running till late each evening. A considerable amount of business has been transacted, both criminal and civil.

50 BILLION MILES YEARLY TRAVEL

FEDERAL AID SYSTEM RETURNS ANNUAL DIVIDENDS OF QUARTER BILLION.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—Although only one-tenth of the roads are in the federal aid system, they carry at least half of the country's rural traffic.

This statement was made here by Frederic E. Everett, president of the American Association of State Highway Officials, in directing attention to the fact that the federal aid system of the roads in each state being improved with federal assistance.

"Annual travel over the federal aid system reaches an incomprehensible figure," said Mr. Everett. "Gasoline consumption and other factors indicate that American motorists travel in excess of 100 billion miles over country roads each year. On that basis, it is estimated that almost 50 billion miles of travel is over the federal aid system, which means an average daily traffic flow of about 750 vehicles per mile.

"When the annual federal aid contribution to road betterment must do so much in regard to service purchased than to the dollars expended. Clearly the improvements made on the federal aid system have reduced car operating costs by almost one cent a mile, for the 1930-1931 season by July 1 of 1931 contained 76,300 miles of high type pavement and an additional 77,200 miles of intermediate type and low type surfaces. Since federal funds are about 42 per cent on the average of the entire road costs, federal expenditures are responsible for almost one-half cent of the reduction in car operating costs. On that basis federal aid returns dividends of about $250,000,000 a year. This is a mighty pleasing return on the present annual investment of less than half that sum.

"Benefits of the federal aid system are extended over the entire country and encompass both the main interstate and the chief secondary roads. A state, if it wishes, may use all of the federal funds on the main arteries and after their completion future federal assistance may be entirely devoted to the roads of secondary importance as far as traffic is concerned.

"In comparison with the 3,000 miles of roads in the United States, the federal aid system is small, but since the federal aid roads, for the most part are the roads of greatest use to the people, the federal aid system should be spared to maintain the present rate of progress, and that means no diminution in the federal funds required for this job," concluded Mr. Everett.

COUNTY CAMPAIGN ON HOME STRETCH

THIRTY-FIVE ASPIRANTS AT GET-AWAY RUNNING NECK-AND-NECK FOR FINISH.

Bulloch county's campaign for county office is now in its active stage. When the starting gun sounded at 12 o'clock last Saturday, thirty-five aspirants for office took the line and were off at the drop of the flag. Today they are running a neck-and-neck race to the finishing line.

There are some last minute changes in the line-up from what was forecast in last week's list of candidates. Two of those listed failed to qualify and two others not mentioned fell into line. Thus the final number stands exactly as was forecast, every one sure of election if his friends do as they have promised. It is going to be a warm contest, according to present indications, despite the handicap of financial depression among the voters and candidates. What is lacking in cash promises to be made up in action, and the voters of the county are being given plenty of that.

When W. G. Neville, secretary and treasurer of the county executive committee, closed his books at 12 o'clock Saturday he had issued receipts for entrance fees which qualified the following candidates:

Chairman of the board of commissioners, Joe $50—M. R. Akins, R. J. Kennedy and W. H. Sharpe.
Ordinary, Joe $50—J. E. McCroan, J. Hudson Metts and A. E. Temples. Clerk superior court, Joe $50—Dan N. Riggs and P. I. Williams.
Solicitor city court, Joe $50—D. C. Johnson.

RUSH TO REGISTER WHEN BOOKS CLOSE

FINAL DAY WITNESSES RUSH TO GET IN SHAPE FOR VOTING IN PRIMARY.

Saturday was a rush day in the office of the tax collector. Not so much, however, in the collection of taxes as in the business of registration.

The collection of taxes was only an incident to the registration, and as such incident turned in several hundred dollars in cash from those who delayed till the last day to get their names on the voters' lists.

Two hundred and eighty-four names were added to the voters' lists on the day, which is by far the largest number ever written on the books in a single day. A large per cent of those were names of women who had never before voted; another large per cent was of young men who gave their ages as 21; some were newcomers from other counties, and the remainder were names of those who had been stricken in other years as defaulters.

The registration was brought about almost entirely through the activity of candidates, those most active in the work being opposing candidates for sheriff, it is said.

There were registrations in every district, as follows:
Sinkhole, 7; Register, 8; Lockhart, 10; Briarpatch, 10; Hagin, 23; Statesboro, 93; Bay, 12; Brooklet, 32; Elbit, 13; Blitch, 18; Port, 51; Neville, 2; Jones, 1; Foy, 1; Newman, 1; Homer Ray, 1; J. W. Smith.
Tax receiver, Joe $10—E. Hudson Donaldson, Dan R. Lee, John P. Lee, H. J. Simpson and M. W. Waters.
Member board of commissioners, Joe $2—Morgan Anderson, John B. Fields, S. J. Foy, J. E. Newman, Homer Ray, 1; J. W. Smith.
Coroner, Joe $1—Willis R. Barnes and G. A. Scriews.
County surveyor, Joe $1—J. E. Rushing.

Fields Announces for County Commissioner

Formal announcement of the candidacy of John B. Fields for county commissioner will be observed in today's issue. Mr. Fields is a prominent property owner and progressive citizen of the Port district, which is one of the important sections of the county. He is popular all over the county and the county's business would be safe in his hands.

Leonard Vickers, of Philadelphia, was heavily fined for walking in the park without trousers.

Finch Body Found By Fortune Teller

Following the directions of a negro fortune teller who lives in the community, the body of T. J. Finch, white farmer who was drowned Friday night, was recovered about noon today. Finch and his son, T. J. Finch, Jr., were fishing in the Ogeechee river near Rocky Ford. The son fell asleep in the prow of the boat and when he awoke about 11 o'clock Friday night his father was missing. Believing he had gone home, the son was surprised when he reached there to learn that the older man had not been seen. Search was continued through Saturday, Sunday and Monday without success. About noon Tuesday the services of the negro seer were enlisted and he pointed out the spot where the body could be found. True enough, the dead man was caught under some brush and was raised within a few feet of the spot pointed out by the negro.

Interment was in the Finch cemetery Wednesday afternoon.

NEW CITY BUILDING BEING CONSIDERED

PLANS SUBMITTED FOR COMBINATION CITY HALL AND FIRE STATION HOUSE.

As an outgrowth of the movement inaugurated at the annual dinner of the fire department late in December, Statesboro may soon find in actual process of construction a handsome new city building, a combination city hall and fire station house.

At the last meeting of the city council preliminary drawings were submitted, which if followed, would provide exactly what Statesboro needs at nominal cost. The proposed scheme is a two-story colonial design of complete simplicity very much like that seen in northern Virginia and very many of the New England States. The plans are for a building of red brick in a range of soft blending colors and having a large amount of white limestone or cast stone trim, terminating the parapet walls at each end. There are two main facades. The long axis of the building features the city hall elevation, whereas the fire department commands the end elevation. The building is a combination of green, grey and blue black. This is to be capped by a colonial cupola which houses the fire siren. Chimneys break through the roof at each end, finishing off the parapet walls by giving a balanced appearance to the structure.

The entrance feature is three equally deep-revealed arched doorways which lead into a vestibule. To the left of this the city offices are accessible. Provision is made for tax collector's office, a concrete vault, city manager's office, offices for the chief of police, mayor, etc. To the right of the vestibule is a ladies' rest room with proper facilities. A central stairway leads from the vestibule to the second floor.

The fire department on the ground floor from the end elevation has a central room for the trucks, hose rack and fire apparatus. There is an office for the fire chief, a tool and storage room, a private stairway to the firemen's sleeping quarters on the second floor, and a pipe rail drop for speedy descent to the engine room.

The second floor houses a good-sized public library with a cozy fireplace for effect, plenty of light and book space. There is a city court room with judge's bench and large seating capacity. There is a private meeting room, a large hall, and a large space which can be used by the city council, women's club, and the various civic organizations from time to time. Reached from the private stair is the firemen's dormitory, shower room and locker space.

By leaving most of the second floor undisturbed until a later date if deemed necessary the cost of the construction would be small. The important element is that a start should be made at once since the advantages are so palpable and so strongly felt. Lower prices are prevailing than ever before, and to start building operations now would be a tremendous saving to the city compared to that which can be expected in the future. This is in itself an argument against paying rent for present city quarters and for waiting until the present eye-searing fire department building shall be condemned. It would give employment to many Statesboro people who need the work and would thereby put more money into circulation around us. Everyone in the community would feel the benefit directly or indirectly.

With the necessary money on hand to provide this improvement which meets a long felt need and with building costs low, why should not the people of Statesboro carry this movement through to a finished product.

Clothing Needed for Tubercular Family

Some months ago there was an appeal made through these columns for a family in which there were several cases of tuberculosis, one or two greatly advanced. Application has been made for admission to Alto for two adults and four children from that family. These applications have been in some time, and as they will soon be called for, it is hoped for a great deal of help to get these folks ready to go. They must have underclothing, socks, coats, bath robes and hot water bottles. Any one wishing to help by sending in the clothing or money to purchase such things as are needed will please send it to Mrs. Joe Fletcher. One outfit must be gotten ready at once, as it is expected she will be called any day now.

RUSH TO REGISTER WHEN BOOKS CLOSE

FINAL DAY WITNESSES RUSH TO GET IN SHAPE FOR VOTING IN PRIMARY.

Saturday was a rush day in the office of the tax collector. Not so much, however, in the collection of taxes as in the business of registration.

The collection of taxes was only an incident to the registration, and as such incident turned in several hundred dollars in cash from those who delayed till the last day to get their names on the voters' lists.

Two hundred and eighty-four names were added to the voters' lists on the day, which is by far the largest number ever written on the books in a single day. A large per cent of those were names of women who had never before voted; another large per cent was of young men who gave their ages as 21; some were newcomers from other counties, and the remainder were names of those who had been stricken in other years as defaulters.

The registration was brought about almost entirely through the activity of candidates, those most active in the work being opposing candidates for sheriff, it is said.

There were registrations in every district, as follows:
Sinkhole, 7; Register, 8; Lockhart, 10; Briarpatch, 10; Hagin, 23; Statesboro, 93; Bay, 12; Brooklet, 32; Elbit, 13; Blitch, 18; Port, 51; Neville, 2; Jones, 1; Foy, 1; Newman, 1; Homer Ray, 1; J. W. Smith.
Tax receiver, Joe $10—E. Hudson Donaldson, Dan R. Lee, John P. Lee, H. J. Simpson and M. W. Waters.
Member board of commissioners, Joe $2—Morgan Anderson, John B. Fields, S. J. Foy, J. E. Newman, Homer Ray, 1; J. W. Smith.
Coroner, Joe $1—Willis R. Barnes and G. A. Scriews.
